200 Die in Jamaica Train Tragedy

SMASHED RAIL COACHES TOMB FOR PILGRIMS

Relatives and rescue workers swarm around three of the coaches torn apart in the wreck of a Roman Catholic pilgrim train in Jamaica, killing 200. The 12-coach train was jammed with pilgrims returning to the island capital of Kingston from a holiday at Montego Bay.

U.S. HOLIDAY TOLL AT 610

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accidents killed at least 610 Americans during the Labor Day weekend.

The death toll from traffic was 431, more than two-thirds of all accident fatalities. Drownings took 87 lives during summer's last holiday. There were 92 fatalities in other types of accidents, with private plane crashes accounting for many of these.

'The Wheel Is Off' Screams Girl Survivor

Priests Tell Of Tragic Scene

KENDAL, Jamaica, B.W.I. (UPI)—A survivor of one of the worst railroad wrecks in history said today that a defective wheel slipped off the speeding train just before it crashed.

There were tales today of dramatic escape, one of those who survived was Pauline Donald, a teen-ager, whose aunt died in the crash. It was she who indicated the possible cause of the disaster.

"They had trouble with a wheel on the way out and some men tightened it at Montego Bay," she said. "But it gave trouble again on the way back."

"It flashed fire and seemed to be slipping. We were going very fast and some said, 'The wheel has slipped off!' Then crash, smash—everything came off."

Pauline was riding in the fourth coach from the end. It ran off the tracks and mounted an embankment, but she escaped.

BOSTON (AP)—Two Massachusetts Jesuit priests escaped injury in the train wreck.

Rev. Harry Ball, S.J., of Boston, said the pair were Rev. Charles J. Eberle of Somerville and Rev. Harry Mallette of Springfield. They said:

"There were more than 1,300 on the 12-coach diesel train. It had just descended a mountain on the way to the station.

"The first car, in which Fathers Eberle and Mallette were passengers, was hurled through the air and came to rest on a huge boulder about 30 feet above the tracks."

"The other cars telescoped and crashed off the right-of-way on both sides of the track."

"The dead and injured were all in the shattered and telescoped 10 rear cars."

"Father Eberle and Father Mallette administered to the dead and dying."

Island Mourns Pilgrims' Fate

MANDEVILLE, Jamaica (AP)—The smell of death hung heavy over this little Caribbean mountain resort today as burial services were rushed for more than 200 Jamaicans killed in the wreck of a Roman Catholic excursion train.

It was one of the worst disasters in railroad history, recalling the 1944 tragedy in Italy when 520 rail travelers trapped by air attack suffocated in a tunnel.

The 12-coach Jamaica train was packed with nearly 1,500 Roman Catholics returning to Kingston from a religious pilgrimage and holiday outing at Montego Bay, on Jamaica's north coast. Nine coaches were derailed and plunged over a dead.

Medics Work Round the Clock

Nearly 700 persons were reported injured. About 500 crowded the hospitals in Mandeville, at nearby Spalding and in Kingston. Many were put two to a bed. Doctors and nurses were rushed to the hospitals, to work around the clock. A plane flew in medical supplies.

About 180 persons received emergency treatment and were able to go home.

Most of the victims were young people, between 16 and 30.

Bodies of the dead were placed under a huge banyan-like tree behind the Mandeville hospital yard. Bright lights strung on wires burned throughout the night to aid relatives and friends in the task of identification. Smoky fires were lit to reduce the odor.

Many bodies, so mangled that identification was impossible, were buried near the wreck Monday in coffins hurriedly made by boys at a nearby youth training centre.

More mass burials of the unidentified were planned today. Burial generally takes place as soon as possible after death on this tropical island.

Some 50 bodies were claimed and taken to Kingston.

Acting governor John Stow and Chief Minister Norman Manley hurried to the wreck.

Sloan Report Release Slated for Next Week

Chief Justice Gordon Sloan today presented his report on a three-year inquiry into the B.C. forest industry to the provincial government.

Premier Bennett presided at the cabinet session, after being away from the capital for three weeks. He spent two weeks holidaying at his home in Kelowna and was electioneering in the Cariboo riding last week for the Sept. 9 by-election.

Traffic Mishap Kills City Man

Police Drive on Highway Fatal Pays Off as B.C. Total Held to 3

The seventh traffic fatality of the year was registered in the Greater Victoria area over the holiday weekend as police throughout British Columbia mounted an all-out effort and kept down fatal accidents to a total of three.

Russ Ready To Continue Arms Talks

LONDON (AP)—Russia served notice today she is ready to go on discussing "basic questions of disarmament" in the five-power United Nations conference here, a British source reported.

But despite prodding by delegates of the Western powers, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made no new comments on the Western package plan for a limited East-West disarmament treaty.

The Western powers on the sub-committee decided today to continue the negotiations as long as there is a chance the Russians might show serious intent to help end the arms race.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower indicated today the United States has exhausted its planned steps for trying to get an early disarmament agreement with Russia.

The next move is up to the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said at a press conference.

'JUST ONE OF NEW BOYS'

Wooden Bed for Prince Seems Nightmare to Manufacturers

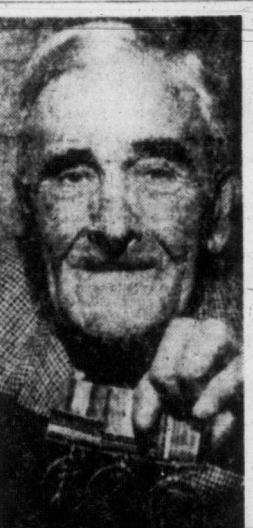

LONDON (Reuters)—Word that Prince Charles will be sleeping in a springless, wooden bed when he goes to boarding school next term caused British bedding manufacturers to fume today.

"When I read of it, my reaction was 'How uncomfortable,'" a spokesman for the Bedding Information Centre said today.

"You should undoubtedly have a firm support at that age, but to go to the extent of boards is a bit spartan and not the bedding industry's idea for comfort."

TRAFFIC VICTIM G. SEARS

Two Subs Sighted

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (UPI)—The commander of the Royal Canadian Navy forces in Newfoundland, J. J. Bovey, left for the south today to investigate the sighting of two unidentified submarines Monday night.

"Enforcement and publicity by the press and radio played a big part," said RCMP Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison, "and this time the public really got into the safety spirit."

Commissioner Harvison, who was out himself on Island highways, Sunday and Monday, said all the officers he spoke to remained on the co-operation shown by motorists.

Off-duty RCMP constables volunteered to man additional patrol cars over the weekend.

Appreciation of their work was expressed by George Lindsay, provincial superintendent of motor-vehicles.

Before the holiday weekend, Mr. Lindsay predicted that five

83 in Canada Die Violently

By The Canadian Press

Eight persons met death in British Columbia during the last holiday weekend of the summer while across Canada the accidental death toll totalled 83, four more than last year.

Three of the B.C. victims died in traffic accidents, almost matching the toll of five forecast by traffic safety authorities.

An eight-year-old boy was buried alive in a North Vancouver cave-in, two men were run over by trains and two men were drowned.

Dead in B.C. are:

An unidentified man hit by a car at a Vancouver intersection Monday night.

Gavin Johnstone, 8, trapped in the collapse of a tunnel he and two chums had dug in a North Vancouver cliff. (See story page 24.)

Gary Peter, 5, of Burnaby, hit by car.

Joseph Solosky, Vancouver, drowned in a Spanish Banks boating accident.

George Sears, of Esquimalt, hit by a car in downtown Victoria.

Fitz Louis, about 50, of Sechelt, was drowned when a car plunged off the road into Garden Bay Lake, near Pender Harbor.

An unidentified man apparently struck by a train at Chilliwack.

Seymour Mitchell, 50, found dead on the Pacific Great Eastern.

PNE DRAWS 820,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attendance at this year's Pacific National Exhibition was a higher than for the last two years but fell short by 50,000 of the record set in 1954.

The prince, who had a look at the school last month with his parents and sister, did not seem troubled.

Charles, a great television fan, will be strictly rationed at Cheam. The school has one television set and it's turned on only when the headmasters think there is something worthwhile.

Apart from playing sports—cricket, soccer, rugby, tennis—the boys see a movie on Saturday nights, providing they haven't stacked up any "black" marks against themselves.

Enough "blacks" could send a boy, and this includes Charles, to the headmasters' study for a "talk" or a canning "in the customary place."

EISENHOWER ORDERS PROBE OF SCHOOL RACE ISSUE

Troops Keep Negroes Away

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—More than 250 national guardsmen and state troopers, equipped with half-tracks, rifles, clubs and pistols, surrounded Central High School to keep Negroes from regressing for the fall term.

None of the 15 or 16 Negro students who want to attend the school showed up for classes.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, defying a federal court against doing anything to prevent gradual integration, called out the guard and troops Monday night to prevent violence he feared "forebide integration" would bring.

In Washington, President Eisenhower told a news conference that Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., is investigating Faubus' use of troops. He said Brownell would set his course of action after a conference with the federal judge who ordered the integration.

The board of education issued a statement, asking Negroes

not to try to enroll in either Central or the other Little Rock white high school until "this dilemma is legally resolved."

Faubus appeared on television Monday night to explain what he had done. An hour before he appeared, 70 members of the guard, heavily armed, surrounded the building.

The number gradually was increased and was joined by state troopers until, by the time school opened today, more than 200 guardsmen and 50 troopers surrounded the building.

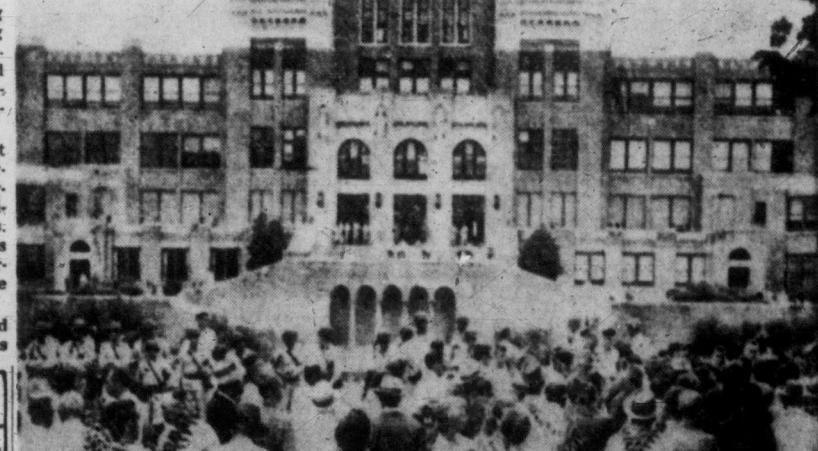

All streets leading to the school were blocked off by half-tracks and patrol cars. State police took up positions at other street intersections on the perimeter of the school.

The school has a white enrollment of about 1,000.

Hundreds of parents and spectators—generally orderly but cat-calling now and then—lined up across the street from the entrance to the school.

White students, with books and lunches in their hands, stood around the building talking. They were admitted freely.

The school has a white enrollment of about 1,000.

TROOPS GUARD SCHOOL

Despite an announcement that there would be racial integration for today's school opening students and parents milled around high school at Little Rock, Ark. Gov. O. E. Faubus called out 250 national guardsmen and state troopers to keep negro students from registering. (AP Wirephoto.)

Guess th' Russians ain't quite got their missile perfected. I see where they want to continue th' disarmament talks a little longer.

persons would be killed in traffic accidents.

"If the traffic fatality reports before this Labor Day weekend are final, it is evident the motorists of this province have responded to the pre-holiday warnings by press and radio and have indeed proven that we can and will respect the rights and privileges of others," he said.

None of the three pedestrians reported killed over the weekend were in RCMP territory.

"I believe that the men who gave up their weekend to make provincial highways safer for everybody have accomplished their job," said Superintendent J. R. W. Bordeleau of the RCMP.

INQUEST

Inquest into the Victoria traffic death of Mr. Sears will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at McCall's Funeral Home.

A veteran of the South African War and the First World War, Mr. Sears retired to Victoria in 1937. He was born in Maidstone, Kent, England, and came to Canada in 1912.

Mr. Sears was life member of the Canadian Legion, Pro Patria branch.

Surviving are the widow, Ellen, Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Williams, Victoria, and Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, Vancouver; five sons, Stanley and Ronald, both of Victoria, Norman of Vancouver, Gordon of Halifax and Herbert of Saskatoon; 23 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren, and three sisters and one brother in England.

Rev. Douglas Kendell will officiate at a funeral service in McCall's Friday at 1:30 p.m. Cremation will follow.

TRAFFIC

ern Railway right-of-way near Lillooet.

Fifty-two of the across Canada toll were traffic victims, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday showed.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference had predicted 60 would die in traffic. Last year 48 were killed.

Quebec led the country with 32 deaths; 20 of them traffic victims and 12 drownings.

Ontario had 21 fatalities, 14 in crashes, four in drownings and three in miscellaneous accidents.

Four of Saskatchewan's 10 deaths were in traffic and four were drownings. Alberta had five traffic fatalities, Manitoba one.

New Brunswick reported two highway deaths, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland each had a miscellaneous death and a traffic fatality. Prince Edward Island reported none.

NEWS BRIEFS

The lady who will be visiting Victoria for a three-day stop-over September 10 will be seen by TV viewers on Channel 4 at 1 p.m. Wednesday on Hollywood's "Queen for a Day" program.

It's part of her reward of being chosen "Queen" of the highly popular daily show. She'll be accompanied by television cameraman who will take pictures of her and Victoria's scenic beauty to be shown on the program at a later date.

An official welcome is being planned by Publicity Commissioner George Warren.

'Save Arms Talks' Mac to Bulganin

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan urged Premier Nikolai Bulganin Monday to break the East-West deadlock over disarmament.

You have but to say, the word and real progress is assured," Macmillan said in a letter to the Russian premier.

Macmillan, who has corresponded sporadically with Bulganin since last year, appealed over the head of Valerian Zorin, Soviet representative on the UN disarmament subcommittee.

"We were not encouraged by the tone and substance of Mr. Zorin's intervention in the disarmament subcommittee on Aug. 27," Macmillan said.

Zorin contended that disarmament proposals made jointly by Britain, the United States, Canada and France contained nothing of genuine value.

The Western plan was a broad one calling for reduction of conventional armaments as well as curtailment of nuclear weapons production. It proposed a two-year suspension of nuclear tests and tight inspection of the territory of the atomic powers.

IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTION

Macmillan wrote Bulganin that these proposals were "an important contribution, both practical and imaginative, to world agreement between us."

"I earnestly trust that they will have your favorable consideration," he said.

Macmillan's letter, fourth in the exchange of correspondence, was published as the disarmament subcommittee prepared to meet later today. It has been recessed since Thursday. The talks have been going on since March 18.

Other points made by Macmillan in a 1,200-word letter released by 10 Downing Street:

1. He rejected a proposal in Bulganin's most recent letter, on July 20, that the United States and all European nations pledge themselves not to assist any aggressor who violates the peace of Europe. Macmillan said members of NATO already have given such a pledge, "voluntarily and unilaterally."

2. He welcomed the Bulgarian statement that Russia's only aim in the Middle East is to promote peace. But he said recent Soviet actions, especially the recent actions, have appeared in a different light. This referred to the recent left-

Bits and Pieces

MR. GAGLARDI SAYS HE IS building good roads and undoubtedly he is. But that is not the point raised by tourist organizations and other critics of our provincial road policies.

The new roads are excellent, as they should be, considering their cost. The trouble is that so many of these improvements are widely scattered and seem to lead nowhere.

The present Government has been in office for five years, it has spent more on roads than any predecessor, yet today there is no paved highway across British Columbia. There is no paved highway from the coast to the central interior and its hub, at Prince George. And from Prince George westward to the coast at Prince Rupert there is only a rutted track of gravel.

The proper objective of a road policy—an objective which the former Government was following regardless of political consequences in local constituencies—must be to provide first the basic skeleton of a transportation system serving the main currents of travel from west to east and from south to north. At our present rate that primary requirement will not be met for several years at least.

To be sure, the obstacles are formidable. From Revelstoke eastward Mr. Gagliardi must drive the Trans-Canada Highway through the continental spine of the Selkirks since the present rough gravel highway around the Big Bend of the Columbia has been abandoned as the future route to Alberta and much of it apparently will be flooded when the Columbia is dammed.

On the southern transprovincial highway (which is likely always to carry the bulk of interprovincial traffic as it does now) the two summits between Grand Forks and Rossland are hardly fit for travel and Mr. Gagliardi has wisely decided not to tinker with the existing pioneer road. Instead, he is building a completely new and modern route in most difficult and expensive terrain. Until it is completed all but the most daring motorists make a detour through the United States. After all our expenditures that fact is amazing.

If work on the two routes to the prairies must take time, and some delay no doubt was inevitable, there can be no excuse for Mr. Gagliardi's failure to complete a paved road from Vancouver to Prince George. Under the former Government's schedule it would have been completed several years ago.

But even when all this work in the interior is done, some years from now, great traffic problems will remain on the coast. A new outlet from Vancouver to Chilliwack is urgently needed to cure a notorious bottleneck and though much construction is under way at various points that cure is not in sight.

Mr. Gagliardi is building roads all over the province and good roads, too, but if there is any overall plan which will establish a basic highway system in the visible future the system has not heard of it.

Obviously all planning is based too much on local political pressures and too little on the needs of the province as a whole. The Government's gigantic road appropriations are being spread where they will do the most political good and the result, for the present at least, is a patchwork of bits and pieces.

Mr. Gagliardi cannot be blamed, in his own phrase, for breaking eggs while he makes omelets and the public has no right to complain when old roads are torn up to make way for new ones, if they are built with reasonable speed.

The public has every right, however, to suspect that the Government has no real road policy planned years ahead and carried through on a definite schedule regardless of results in local politics.

Retreat From Absurdity

SLOWLY, STEP BY STEP, MR. Dulles seems to be recognizing the existence of Communist China. The recognition is still far from official, of course, but under the hampering of the American press Mr. Dulles has finally admitted that it would be a good idea to let American reporters into China and get out some news about a country and a government that exist even without American recognition.

When some American newspapermen asked permission to visit China Mr. Dulles brushed off their request as not only absurd but dangerous. Since the United States did not recognize China, how could it allow its nationals to travel there?

Indeed, the secretary of state almost seemed to think that since China was not there at all by American law, there was nothing for the newspapermen to report—nothing, that is to say, but the most populous nation on earth and one of the most important to the world's future peace.

Recently Mr. Dulles was driven from this line of defence to a second. He said American reporters could visit China but he would not allow Chinese reporters to visit the United States, as demanded, quite reasonably by the Peiping Government.

Then, when this policy appeared too ridiculous for the American people to swallow—what had they to hide from Chinese reporters?—Mr. Dulles began to retreat to a third line. He said there might be some way of letting the Chinese reporters in after all.

Perhaps, therefore, the United States Government is laboriously extricating itself from an impossible position which already has given the Communists a first-class propaganda point.

As the Communists argue, the United States has stood the world over for freedom of information, but in the case of China has stood for the suppression of information. American policy is thus represented as contradictory and insincere.

Moreover, the United States has tried to deny its own people the essential facts about Chinese life. Finally, to make this policy preposterous, the United States admits Communist reporters from other unfriendly countries but will not admit Chinese reporters, when it is important to the United States that the truth about its own life should be spread as far as possible among the deluded Communist peoples in all lands.

In this whole affair Mr. Dulles has achieved such a pinnacle of absurdity that he was bound to fall off. This he seems to be doing now, as gracefully as possible.

The Modest Counterfeiter

OLE JENSEN IS A COUNTERFEITER from Copenhagen and as such deserves the condemnation of society. But we confess to a sneaking sympathy for him. He is so modest and so modest.

Most counterfeiters manufacture large units of currency, five-dollar or ten-dollar bills at least. Not Mr. Jensen. For he seems to have been interested less in money than in his art as an engraver.

At any rate, Mr. Jensen made were some stamps worth a few pennies each. He made them so well that they escaped the watchful eye of the post office. Only an expert could tell them from the genuine article. As a result, Mr. Jensen's correspondence, which was not extensive, traveled free.

Then he made a fatal mistake. Cupidity caught up with him. He took a book of his stamps to the nearest post office, explained that he had bought too many and asked for cash in exchange. Over and over again the cash was paid out. The Jensen stamp was too perfect for detection.

At last, however, some postal clerk became suspicious. It seemed strange that Mr. Jensen was always over-estimating his need for stamps and demanding a refund. So the stamps were examined by the experts and their minute flaws revealed.

Mr. Jensen replied with a highly logical argument. He said he wasn't cheating anybody. After all, he handed over to the post office excellent stamps that were then sold to the public. Nobody was losing anything. And Mr. Jensen's fees for making the government's stamps were probably lower than the cost of printing them legally.

This didn't impress the practical Danish Government. At last reports Mr. Jensen seemed bound for the cooler. Too bad that such a fine artist should be unemployed—especially when every government in the world has been furiously counterfeiting not stamps but real money, by certain legal methods.

The New Red Flag

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Malthus and Sevareid

THE civic authorities in these parts, as in all parts of North America, are grappling with what they are pleased to call a traffic problem. In fact it is a civic problem, it cannot be solved by any civic government but it will cure itself by the Malthusian Law, as redefined in and brought up to date by Sevareid's Law.

By sheer accident I discovered these facts as I was reading in my private woodland hermitage, a building only four feet square and constructed for private thought, a book of essays by the famous American radio commentator, Mr. Eric Sevareid.

Now, Mr. Sevareid is a modest man, as I found on meeting him a year or two ago in Washington, but he has profound and stubborn opinions on great matters such as traffic. Moreover, he evidently detests automobiles and considers the internal combustion engine the worst human disaster since Eve's apple. In short: a man after my own heart.

DULLES IS IMPROVING US IN PHYSIQUE. IT IS DOOMED TO BIG CARS THAT IN TURN DOOM US TO INTOLERABLE STREETS AND HIGHWAYS. HAPPILY, HOWEVER, THE BIG CAR DOOMS ITSELF BY SEVAREID'S LAW.

"WHEN," says the discoverer of that principle, "our natural law reaches its apex, cars, like people under the Malthusian Law, will be choked, beaten, stabbed and pushed into rivers by a panic-stricken populace. There's only one possible way out: that is to go back to the old Herbert Hoover goal of two cars in every garage and leave them there."

THAT IS REASSURING BUT DOESN'T REALLY GO FAR ENOUGH. THERE IS ALWAYS THE DANGER THAT THE CARS WILL ESCAPE THEIR PRISON AND SURGE ABOUT THE COUNTRYSIDE, AS MANY OF THEM DO NOW, UNDER THEIR OWN VOLITION, THE DRIVERS OBVIOUSLY HAVING NO CONTROL OVER THEM AND BEING ONLY DOUBTFUL ORNAMENTS AND EXTRA GADGETS BEHIND THE WHEEL.

NO, WE MUST GO FURTHER THAN SEVAREID'S LAW IF WE ARE TO BE TRUELY FREE. LOOKING OUT OVER OUR LAKE THIS MORNING AT TWENTY INTERNAL COMBUSTION ENGINES IN SPEED BOATS AND THREE IN AIRPLANES—A DISEASE WHICH ALREADY HAS RUINED MY HEARING AND CHANGED AN AMBLE OLD MAN INTO A FURIOUS HATER OF THE HUMAN SPECIES.

I HAVE THOUGHT OF A MUCH SOUNDER POLICY THAN MR. SEVAREID SUGGESTS.

THESE ARE NO NEED TO WAIT FOR THE SELF-DESTRUCTION OF THE AUTOMOBILE. LET US HUMANS TAKE THE INITIATIVE OURSELVES, GET INTO THE DRIVER'S SEAT AND CONTROL EVENTS. BACK TO THE HORSE—THAT IS BRIEFLY MY POLICY. YES, BACK TO THE HORSE, AND IF ANY POLITICAL PARTY WILL ADVOCATE THAT RADICAL AND REVOLUTIONARY IDEA IT WILL HAVE MY VOTE. I WILL EVEN DRIVE VOTERS TO THE POLLS IN MY AUTOMOBILE.

LONDON LETTER

Drive First---Test Later

LONDON—From this week on, Canadian visitors are allowed to drive a car in this country without the necessity of taking out a British driving permit.

This concession does away with the previous ruling that tourists had to get a temporary visitor's licence. Provided you have a valid Canadian licence, you're legally okay on the roads here.

But if your Canadian licence runs out during your stay, that's when things get complicated—and inconsistent. It is necessary then to take out a visitor's license. These cost five shillings, no test is required and they are good for a year.

Fair enough. But supposing you stay on here beyond the expiry date of your visitor's licence, can you renew it? Oh, no. You must start all over again and apply for a permanent British licence. This requires taking a test.

This struck me as rather strange. In other words, a Canadian can drive around trying to cope with the switch from driving on the right to driving on the left and knock down lamp-posts and/or people for a year or more—and then he must take a test to see whether he is capable of driving on British roads.

One would have thought that either of

RUSS 'GAMES' TOO Canadian Ships To Join Mass U.S. Manoeuvre

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A staggering array of American warships was due to depart today for a six-weeks' series of international naval manoeuvres in northern waters. In which Canadian ships also will take part.

Eighty-five ships of the United States Atlantic fleet were scheduled to stage a mass exodus from the Norfolk naval base for an eventual rendezvous with more than 200 warships of five other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations in what is labelled Exercise Strikeback.

Nearest I could come to it was a statement from the Transport Ministry: "Visitors and people domiciled in this country are licensed differently."

That, in theory, is true enough. But it doesn't take into account the many people who come over as visitors and remain to be domiciled here—businessmen or prolonged visits, people who come here to try their luck in newspapers, the theatre and so on, employees transferred to English branches, etc.

No one I talked to could point to any logic in the ruling that a person can legally drive in England without a test for a year and then is forced to take a test. As a Transport Ministry spokesman said: "It's just one of those inconsistencies of the law."

EFFECTS OF ATOM-BOMB FALL-OUT

Last year, in a book (number 461) published by the National Research Council, Drs. J. V. Neel and W. J. Schulz, experts on genetics, summarized the careful studies that have been made of the children resulting from over 70,000 pregnancies of Japanese women exposed to bomb radiation in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. For years it has been feared by some scientists that this radiation might produce in the ovaries a large number of so-called mutations, which would result in malformed infants; but, actually, no definite excess of defective infants was found. This should go far now to cheer some of the people who at present are so panicky about "fall-outs."

A WOMAN ABOUT TO HAVE A BABY

All women who are about to have a baby could be greatly helped by reading a book with the title, "Getting Ready for Parenthood," by Dr. Marie A. Castello (Macmillan Co., N.Y.). It gives all the information that a woman wants during her pregnancy; it tells what to expect during labor; it tells what clothes to take to the hospital, and it tells something of how to take care of the baby after he or she comes. It is clearly written and with nothing to frighten the prospective mother.

A SALT-POOR DIET FOR DIZZINESS

People keep asking about a salt-poor diet for ear noises and dizziness. It can be tried, and I hear that occasionally it does some good. I myself might try this diet if my ears were buzzing—but I would quit it if it did not show signs of helping me. Many people find it very unpleasant to live on an unsalted diet, and wives of these patients tell me that the husband complains bitterly about his tasteless food. As any physician would point out, there are all grades of salt-poor diet, some bearable, some almost unbearable, and some even dangerous to life.

'Take One' System Boon to Gardeners

Valuable information is to be found stacked on the counters of seed and feed stores, or in wall racks with the invitation to "take one," but it is remarkable how few gardeners avail themselves of the service.

Can it be possible that any country in the world has so much free printed matter as Canada and the United States? In European publications nearly all catalogs and pamphlets carry a charge for "postage and wrapping" and this is not refunded on the first order as is common here when a charge is made.

In the last month, I have picked up three free booklets on how to plant just about everything we can grow here. These are excellent and a source of information.

Three pamphlets on making compost by the Fertosan method take care of all we need to know about compost making, while others on fertilizers remove any doubts about how our plants should be fed.

TOO MUCH?

A fine booklet on how to make a lawn is available, also pamphlets on the uses for termites, peat moss and lime, and several charts on sprays for vegetables, fruits and flowers.

Possibly we have too much printed matter around, or maybe we look upon this first-hand information with resentment because it is a form of advertising, but we are passing up the very things we want to know when we fail to "take one."

No gardener need be without an up-to-date reference library while seed catalogs, government bulletins and these trade pamphlets are ours free.

SELMON ASSUMES NEW AIR POST

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Air Marshal C. Roy Slemmon of the RCAF arrived in Colorado Springs Monday night to assume new duties as deputy commander-in-chief of the newly integrated North American air defence system.

The dapper 53-year-old Canadian officer will be second in command of the combined operational headquarters of the Canadian and United States air defence forces in Colorado Springs. Gen. Earle E. Partridge of the U.S. Air Force, is commander-in-chief.

Eighty-five ships of the United States Atlantic fleet were scheduled to stage a mass exodus from the Norfolk naval base for an eventual rendezvous with more than 200 warships of five other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations in what is labelled Exercise Strikeback.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—Malaya's new king said today his country wants to be friends with all countries, but he warned that Communist terrorists present to Malaya's new independence a threat which must be eliminated.

King Abdul Rahman was making a policy statement at the first meeting of the legislative assembly since Malaya received independence from Britain last Saturday.

He warned against any deal with the Communists, who have been waging guerrilla warfare here for nine years, that would allow them to re-enter the bloodstream of the country and pursue their aims unhindered.

Instead, the Malayan government proposed to offer new surrender terms to the terrorists. Those who did not accept the terms would be "exterminated."

Train Hits Car, Driver Uninjured

(From CP Dispatches)

WEST VANCOUVER—A Pacific Great Eastern passenger train struck a car at the 14th Avenue level crossing here Monday.

The driver of the car, Ernie Peet, escaped with a shaking Presley show in Empire Stadium here.

He is alleged to have kicked the policeman in the leg when his back was turned. Police said he resisted arrest when three officers grabbed him.

Peet, a veteran West Vancouver bus driver en route home after work, told police he managed to pull himself back to the driver's place and retrieve the wheel. He avoided hitting the unidentified woman and baby, who continued on.

Between $300 and $500 damage was done to the car. A PGE official said considerable damage was caused the front of the train, which continued its journey to Squamish with little delay.

IKE SIGNS BILL ON PROTECTION OF FBI FILES

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill aimed at protecting files of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from unrestricted searches by defense lawyers.

The United States Congress passed the bill as one of the last acts of the session. The Justice department and FBI chief Hoover had asked for it because of a Supreme Court decision last June.

The new law spells out legal procedures to be followed in line with the court's ruling that a defendant in trying to discredit the testimony of a government witness against him, has a right to inspect all reports the witness had made to the government.

Ike Queries Russ Claim Of Missile in Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, commenting on Russia's intercontinental missile claims, said today more testing of such weapons is a long way from actual production.

Eisenhower made the statement at a press conference when asked whether he could give the American people any information on the status of United States efforts to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The questioner asked for comment in the light of the Soviet Union's announcement last week that it had tested such a weapon successfully.

Eisenhower replied that anything he said had to be within the framework of national security. He said careful reading of the Russian announcement marked it more for what it did not say than what it actually did say.

Eisenhower said that in the past the Russians have been something less than completely reliable, and added that on this occasion he saw no reason for placing more credence than usual in the Soviet announcement.

It will take more than a "miracle finish", like the New York Giants produced in 1951 to catch the Milwaukee Braves now in the National League pennant race.

Six years ago, the Giants electrified the baseball world when, after trailing the Brooklyn Dodgers by six games at the Labor Day milestone, they won 17 of their last 21 games to finish in a first place tie with the Dodgers and then walked off with the flag on Bobby Thomson's dramatic ninth-inning home run in the third game of the playoffs.

Now consider the almost hopeless task confronting Milwaukee's nearest rivals at this season:

The Braves were sweeping their holiday doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs Monday, the second-place St. Louis Cardinals dropped two games to the Cincinnati Redlegs and the third-place Dodgers lost twice to Philadelphia. That left the Cardinals 8½ games behind and the Dodgers nine games out.

HOT FINISH NEEDED

Even if the Braves win only 12 of their remaining 24 games, the Cardinals must win 21 of 23 to rob them of the championship, while the Dodgers must win 21 of 22 to retain the flag.

The Braves got in some good batting practice for the World Series against the Cubs Sunday, collecting 26 hits in running off with the opener, 1-20, Wes Covington and Hank Aaron each drove in six runs and Frank Torre tied a major league record by scoring six times. Bob Trowbridge blanked the Cubs with three hits in winning the nightcap, 4-0.

The Redlegs nipped the Cardinals, 3-1, on Frank Robinson's two-run homer in the 10th inning of the nightcap after home runs by Bob Thurman, George Crowe and Ed Bailey carried Cincinnati to a 10-5 opening game victory.

Philadelphia Phillies used two castoff pitchers in sweeping the Dodgers, 10-4 and 7-4. Warren Hacker pitched his first complete game of the season in the opener while Jim Hearn won the nightcap.

SAUER SLUGGING

Hank Sauer hit two homers and drove in six runs as the New York Giants walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-5. Giants also won the nightcap, 4-3, on southpaw Johnny Antonelli's two-run homer in the sixth inning.

The Baltimore Orioles dealt the New York Yankees their first double-header defeat of the season, but the Chicago White Sox had to settle for a split against the Detroit Tigers. Mickey Mantle lost the American League batting lead to Ted Williams (.374 to .372) by collecting only one hit in seven at-bats.

White Sox, who now trail the Yankees by 4½ games, whipped the Tigers, 8-2, as Billy Pierce became the major's leading winner by posting his 18th victory in the opener. Detroit won the nightcap, 5-4.

Vernon Team Takes B Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vernon Coldstreams took the Senior B Provincial Softball Championship here Monday, beating Ladysmith Merchants 5-4 in 14 innings in the last game of the two-day tournament.

Vernon's break came in the top of the 14th when Don McLeod was safe on an error by Ladysmith pitcher Jim Lamont. He went to second on a passed ball and scored when Stubby McLean hit a fly ball that Merchants' leftfielder lost in the lights.

The winning pitcher was Pat Callaghan, who was also responsible for Vernon getting to the final when he stopped North Vancouver 1-0 Sunday. Lamont was the loser.

Vernon had eight hits and four errors to Ladysmith's seven hits and five errors.

The Merchants entered the final by beating Vancouver Ferrars 11-0. They had previously beaten Trail 12-7. Vernon earlier beat Kitimat 9-6.

JUNIOR, SENIOR DATES FOR LACROSSE PLAYOFFS

TORONTO (CP)—Chuck Rowan, assistant secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, today announced dates for playoffs in the Mann Cup senior and Minto Cup junior lacrosse championships.

The best-of-seven senior finals will be played between the British Columbia and Ontario champions in B.C. starting Sept. 16.

Peterborough and suburban Long Branch are playing off for the eastern championship.

LACROSSE BOX

ROSSLAND (CP)—Victoria Island Tug captured the British Columbia Senior B Lacrosse championship Saturday night when they whipped Rossland Redmen 10-7 to win the best-of-three series in two straight games.

Tom Halbert of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association presented the Pat Hartney Memorial Trophy to Victoria captain Art Green.

It marked the first time Victoria has won the Senior B title and it ended Rossland's hold on the championship.

Rossland had won the crown for the last three years.

Teams split six goals in the first quarter, with Victoria moving ahead 5-5 by the half. Rossland scored two unanswered goals in the third quarter to cut the Tugmen's lead to 8-7 but Victoria scored twice in the final stanza without a reply.

Green paced the winners with three goals and an assist, Barry Ashbee and Jackie Thompson added two each with singles going to Gary Taylor, Art Pike and Ken Barnes.

Pete Bourchier led Rossland with three markers.

Victoria was full value for its win as time and again the Tugmen set up beautiful passing plays. Jack Reid, Don Pimlott and Jackie Milburn starred for Tugmen in setting up the different challenges.

Cooper's win capped a magnificent weekend. The 66 car ran away with a clean sweep Saturday for Cooper's first of the season. The only other one posted this year was posted by Digger O'Dell, who was far off his regular form both events.

Cooper swept the time trials, trophy dash, main event and singles matches.

As Billy Joe started to move, the whole American group turned killers and by the time

Patton reached the 36th green, the one point he gained by beating the current British amateur champion was all the U.S. needed to keep the international trophy.

The Americans had taken a 2-1 lead in the Scotch foursomes Friday and won the first four singles matches Saturday. That made a total of six points and left the British without a chance to win the trophy in the four remaining singles.

'NEVER-NEVER LAND OF PURE HORROR'

Darling of Screaming Mob Moves Like Sensuous Slob

By DINAH KERR
Times Staff Reporter

On the stage, Elvis Presley moves like a sensuous slob. He staggers, his mouth slackly half-open, arms akimbo, like a drunken man.

He shimmies convulsively, his long hair batwing his forehead. His legs swirl in extravagant full circles and he holds the mike in his mouth.

"God's teeth," said an usher at Vancouver's Empire Stadium Saturday night. "You have to see him to believe him."

And the crowd itself was like something out of a never-never land of pure horror.

When Presley rode in a convertible around the stadium, wearing the jacket to his $4,000 gold and silver suit, 22,000 people, mostly teenagers, covered their ears and screamed.

They screamed like they had never screamed before for this 22-year-old boy from Memphis, Tennessee ... for the boy who became famous because he knows how to wiggle his hips to a rock 'n' roll song.

And when he began singing and swiveling, they couldn't stand it any longer.

Through a guard of 70 policemen and about 150 air force cadets, they surged to the stage.

I was standing below the stage when they came running. Presley beat it backstage and over the noise of the screams the emcee said the show would be stopped if the idol-worshippers didn't return to their seats.

The screams died down and they returned, only to rush forward again when Presley put the mike to his lips and circled his hips.

This time they pushed right up to an iron fence around the stage. I grabbed the hand of a policeman as the kids rolled about us. One woman, ground against the fence, was taken away by ambulance. A policeman lost his hat, another got in a fight with a sailor, and an usher had his coat ripped.

I Was Scared

The third time the crowd came in, it stayed. The policemen, the cadets, the ushers, and I retreated behind the stage. It was the first time in my life I had ever encountered an almost-hysterical crowd and I was scared.

The Pelvis was used to it. He spun his legs even more frantically than before. He lurched from one side of the stage to the other, his mike to his lips, and the mob shrieked with pleasure and excitement.

When he rounded into "Hound Dog," the policemen began lining up, and before the crowd had realized what happened, Presley finished the song, ran from the stage into a waiting police car and whirled away from the stadium.

I had gone over to the one-night show with 84 other Victorians in a C & C taxi "Presley Package." The two buses carried passengers ranging in age from a young boy of about 12 to an old lady of 86.

In the soft drawl, he said: "Yes, lack of privacy. For instance, when I'm on tour I have to eat in my room. I can't go to a ball game or the local theatre. To see a movie, I have to rent the theatre for a private show."

Just Got Lucky

He had no advice for others who wanted to make a career of singing.

"I really don't know what to tell them," he said. "Me, I just got lucky."

Fame, he said, hadn't changed him as a person. "It's made me nervous, that's all."

"But if you stop being nervous, you'll flop," he said.

He figures he loses a pound in every performance and he can't sleep at night anymore.

Instead, "I have a party at my house," he said, "and I sleep during the day."

He doesn't plan to shave his sideburns or cut out his free-wheeling body movements.

"That's my way of expressing myself," he said. "I can't stop."

At that time he wore a velvet-smooth black suit, black shirt opened to expose a bare brown chest, black leather loafers and a huge black sapphire ring on his left hand. He said it had been given him by a girl in California.

I asked Elvis if there were any drawbacks to the fame that had shot him to the top of the entertainment world four years ago.

In the soft drawl, he said:

"Yes, lack of privacy. For instance, when I'm on tour I have to eat in my room. I can't go to a ball game or the local theatre. To see a movie, I have to rent the theatre for a private show."

The questions concerned current events, kings, bodies of water and novels. Baird came within one answer of winning. He erroneously listed the Belgian Congo as one of the countries.

GERUSSI WINS GUTHRIE AWARD

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Two Canadian actors Monday night received the Dr. Tyrone Guthrie award of $1,500 each to help finance theatrical training.

The presentations were made by Dr. Guthrie at the close of Monday night's Shakespearean Festival production of Hamlet to John Horton, 21, of Kitchener, and Bruno Gerussi, 28, of Vancouver.

Craig was believed preparing to go to Italy and Horton may go to England, both to continue theatrical studies.

Water makes hair look good . . . for a while. But it leaves hair lifeless and dry. Put oil back in hair by using 'Vaseline' Hair Tonic. No other hair tonic does such a natural job of grooming!

OTHER HAIR DRESSINGS fail to put oil back in hair because they contain sticky white creams or drying alcohol.

'Vaseline' HAIR TONIC contains only the clean, clear ingredients hair needs for perfect grooming at all times—prevents dry scalp too.

Record Crowds At Saanichton Riding Events

Record crowds and improved facilities to speed the program made the riding events held in connection with the Saanichton Fair Saturday and Monday among the best in the fair's 88-year history.

Competition was intense among riders of Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Both shows were under sponsorship of the Garden City Horsemen's Club headed by J. V. Donaldson.

An outstanding feature of the English program Monday was the open jumping event over a long and difficult course. Winner was C. C. Carpenter of Victoria, riding his Sky Bingo.

RIDER KICKED

There were nearly 30 entries in the children's (under 18) equitation class, which filled the ring almost to overflowing. Because of the crowding one horse became boxed in, paniced, and kicked another rider.

There were other slight casualties.

A feature of the western show Saturday was the trail class, won by Bob Owens on his quarter horse, Tacoma Dink, Echo.

At the PNE last week Owens placed second to George McGee on Miss Skookum, but McGee just barely made the money at Saanichton by squeezing into fourth place.

The trail class puts horses through a course of "hazards" they might encounter in a working day, such as the opening of a squeaky rural mail box, carrying a sack full of tincans, crossing a narrow bridge, and ducking under an overhanging bough.

Complete results follow. Listed in order are the horse, rider, and owner, but where only one person is listed, he or she is both rider and owner.

INA JIMMES, 10, of Mount Newton Cross Road, was one of dozens of youngsters who competed in fair. She showed her Jersey calf in the big and well-supported 4-H Club division of the fair. (Times Photos.)

FOUR INJURED IN POLE CRASH

COURTENAY (CP)—Four persons went to hospital Monday night after a car driven by Alfred Rudolf of Jordan River struck a power pole two miles from Cumberland-Courtney highway.

Mrs. George Hardy, her teen-age daughters Pearl and Florence, and John Noble of Surge Narrows were injured.

The driver and Mrs. Emily Noble were unhurt.

Young Driver Loses Licence For 3 Years

NANAIMO—Bruce Robert Mackenzie of Nanaimo was fined $250 or three months in jail and prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for three years when he appeared before Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts here.

He was charged with criminal negligence when the car he was driving, owned by Larry Giovando, left the road Aug. 20 and travelled 700 feet before coming to a stop.

The magistrate said the car was going 120 mph and that the wheels were broken 50 feet away by gravel thrown up by the car's wheels.

He added: "I feel that young Giovando, who owns the car, is just as guilty as the accused and trust his father will take the necessary steps to see that he does not drive for some time."

Giovando is the son of Dr. Larry Giovando, former MLA for Nanaimo.

THEY BROKE 85 WINDOWS

NANAIMO—Charged with smashing 81 panes of glass in a school, two windows in a truck and two in a gasoline station, Robert Rhodes of Errington and Donald Garrow of East Wellington were remanded in RCMP court here after pleading guilty to wilful damage.

The pair will be sentenced Friday.

"If you were given the maximum penalty for these offences, it would send you to prison for the next 24 years," the magistrate said.

MONTE ROBERTS

One, or possibly two, constituents have been kind enough to notice my absence from this space, and have enquired as to what in the world I have been doing these past two weeks

Well, what I have been doing is conducting research into a matter of vital importance to the welfare of the human race.

With that complete selflessness known only to those dedicated to pure research, I have devoted countless hours investigating the adaptability of the human body to prolonged sleep.

When I undertook this project, I fully realized there would be obstacles to overcome.

One of the main ones, of course, was to devise a method of eating while sleeping.

A great detriment to prolonged sleeping on the part of the human body is this: somewhere in the dark, distant past, a misguided soul invented the pastime of eating.

Over the years, this pastime has appealed so greatly that it now assumes the proportions of a well-nigh unbreakable habit, much harder to get away from than smoking or interrupting your wife when she is telling a story.

I achieved at least a partial solution to this problem by arranging to dream of lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches.

As I eat lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches (even without lettuce and mayonnaise) this effectively took away my appetite, and enabled me to sleep through meal times.

However, one obstacle I could not overcome was the 24-hour day.

I found it impossible to sleep more than 24 hours a day, this because (under our present system) there are only 24 hours in a day.

I am working on this aspect, but cannot promise positive results at the present moment.

Unfortunately I must deliver a negative report on the adaptability of the human body for prolonged sleeping.

The long hours I spent on research have convinced me of this sad fact:

The human body wasn't meant for prolonged sleeping.

For instance, what does one do with one's arms during a prolonged sleeping bout?

If one sleeps on one's left arm, one's left arm becomes tired and one's right arm gets outside the covers and becomes cold.

The reverse is true if one sleeps on one's right arm.

The feet attached to the human body are also all wrong for sleeping, being built at right angles to the legs.

This means that feet dig into the mattress if one sleeps on one's front; and they dig into the blanket if one sleeps on one's back.

And if the feet are kept in an unnatural, straight-out-toe-dancing position, a cramp occurs in one's thighs.

All in all, my research has proven that the human body isn't suited for sleeping more than 18 hours at a stretch, so I must count my efforts a failure.

Although, at that, I didn't begrudge the time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A further call for blood donations went out from Red Cross House today.

A recent record clinic reduced the demand from an emergency status, but stocks are still reported light.

Special clinic will be held for naval personnel Wednesday. Thursday a clinic will be held at Red Cross House between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m., and 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Wilfred L. Hollings, 840 Courtenay, pleaded guilty today to impaired driving Sunday and was fined $250 in city police court.

In addition, his licence will be restricted to driving for business purposes only for one year.

He struck a parked car on North Park Street Sunday at 8:50 p.m., causing $50 damage to the car, police said.

Hockey Star's Son Dies at 3 Months

Three-month-old son of New York Rangers hockey player Andy Hebenton and Mrs. Hebenton, 1680 Howroyd, died suddenly in Royal Jubilee today after a brief illness.

Robert James Hebenton was born in Victoria May 16. He is survived by a brother Clayton, four, and sister Terry, one; and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hebenton, of Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beveridge, Victoria.

Two Port Alberni men received cuts and bruises Monday at 1:50 a.m. when involved in a traffic accident on Johnson Street.

Albert Gallant and A. Morris were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment and later were discharged.

Gallant had been driving his car south on Douglas when he was in collision with a car being driven east on Johnson by Earl L. Clark, HMCS Naden, city police said. Mr. Clark was not injured.

Fire, building and health authorities today asked city council for an order for repair or demolition of vacant garage and service station at 1721 Cook.

A letter to council described the building as "so dilapidated" as to be offensive and dangerous to the community. The inspectors asked a 60-day period be allowed for the project. Owner is S. D. Vanwright.

Fourteen downtown store operators petitioned City Hall today to leave shopping hours as they are now regulated by the Municipal Act.

They also requested the mayor and council "legal action be taken if necessary . . . to enforce 6 p.m. closing and noon closing Wednesdays."

The group is in opposition to the Victoria Six-Day Shopping Week group which is seeking changes in the act to permit Wednesday afternoon opening in a year-round basis.

This time, Frank Doucet, told city police, the thieves weren't after lumber.

They stole 20 gallons of gas from trucks parked at Domon's Lumber and Transport Ltd., 285 Bay Street, sometime Sunday night.

Branch manager Doucet earlier reported that thieves were repeatedly stealing expensive lumber from the yards at night, catching it in adjacent woods, and picking it up in the morning.

City police are investigating a Sunday night break-in at Evans, Coleman and Johnson Ltd., Wharf Street.

Burglars apparently broke in through a skylight and then were scared off. Nothing was missing from the office.

St. Albans 60-Up Club will meet at the parish hall Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

A meeting of the Victoria Soaring Club will be held at the Victoria Flying Club lecture room, Patricia Bay, at 8 tonight.

The first fall meeting of the Armchair Travellers' Association will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the YWCA. It is open to all senior citizens.

George W. Riggs was sentenced in city police court today to 10 days in jail for fraudulently obtaining lodgings at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government, to the value of $43 in February. Earlier Riggs pleaded guilty to the charge.

Record 10,000 At 'Best-Ever' Saanichton Fair

Premier Praises Society's Effort

Saanichton fair, oldest and largest of the agricultural fairs held on the southern end of the Island, entered the ranks of Class B fairs on the weekend with the best fair in its 89-year history.

Albert Doney, president of the North and South Saanichton Agricultural Society, fair sponsors, estimated the crowd at over 10,000, and said it was the largest ever.

The giant fair, with a $6,000 prize list, was opened officially Monday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who praised the society for its effort, and suggested it would be an important part of centennial celebrations next year.

ONLY ONE

Through good times and bad, through poor times and prosperity, through war and peace, it is the only fair that has held its place for 89 years," he said.

Premier Bennett shared the platform with Defence Minister George Pearkes, V.C., and said that provincial and federal governments are working in close co-operation.

"I am sure the agricultural departments will work together to help all those engaged in farming," he said.

Gen. Pearkes said the exhibits showed that farming is even more than essential to our living."

Mr. Doney introduced Mayor Percy Scurrah of Victoria, who promised the city's co-operation with the fair; Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanichton, who said the fair is becoming widely known as the best of its kind, and Reeve H. Rupert Brown of Central Saanichton.

REAL PIONEER

A truly genuine pioneer, honorary president of the society who attended the first fair in his grandmother's arms and has only missed one since, was George T. Michell, 3931 Cumberland.

"I helped her through the broken wires and made sure she was safe. Two or three more people came out into the street . . . they wanted to put their garden hoses on the fire but I stopped them."

DANGEROUS

A direct stream of water could carry an electrical charge to the person directing a hose, such fires are fought with a fine spray.)

City firemen were unable to get close to the fire until after the arrival of the line crew which cleared away the fallen wires. Power was interrupted to a number of Victoria West homes.

Alarm was turned in by occupants in the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Feika, 1003 Russell. They took the injured woman into their home where Irene Feika, 16, trained in first aid, gave emergency treatment.

TOP QUALITY

"This year I think the quality of livestock and other material is the highest it has ever been," he said. "It means that all our efforts toward establishing a Class B fair have been worth while."

One of the few sour notes of the fair was the theft, for the second consecutive year, of a leather wallet displayed by Mrs. D. Godwin in the leather goods display.

CROWD SWELLED

The fair this year was a mass of superlatives. The day was pleasantly warm but not stifling.

There were 300 head of cattle entered, 113 horses, an exceptionally large rabbit entry, and the biggest sheep show ever held in the fair, with 120 animals.

SECOND BEST

The fair this year was a mass of superlatives. The day was pleasantly warm but not stifling.

Only a handful of Labor Day holidaymakers were on hand for the first flight when Mayor Percy Scurrah fired the starting gun but the crowd swelled into the hundreds as the day wore on.

A 12-foot fibre glass boat, "door prize" at Labor Day celebrations sponsored by Beaver Lake Swim Committee, was won by D. R. Beaman, 2236 Bowker, it was announced today.

The only boy in a field of five entered in the 17-19 age group, Monty Vanden, 17, 2150 Haultain, won easily with a time of 59 minutes and 15 seconds.

However, his mark was bettered three times by leaders in the following flights.

Marge Jackson, 13-year-old grade eight student at Esquimalt Junior High, won the 13 and under flight when she crossed from Happy Land beach to Beaver Lake beach in 56 minutes and 30 seconds. She lives at 489 South Joffre.

SECOND BEST

In the final flight, of 14 to 16 year-olds, Gail Parker, 16, came in behind Warburton to establish the second-best time of the day in 52 minutes and 34 seconds.

A grade 11 student at Oak Bay High, she lives at 2360 Cranmore. Last year she was the first girl in her flight.

Youngest swimmer to complete the race was 11-year-old Jim Burchill, of Langford, who made a fine effort in one hour 27 minutes and 40 seconds.

It was a great day for the Victoria Y and well-known swimming coach Archie McKinnon. His coaching and membership in the Y was claimed by the leading two or three in each flight.

Warburton, who placed third in his class last year when he first tried the swim, coped the Saanichton trophy, presented by Reeve Arthur Ash for the best time, the Sadler Trophy and a gift certificate for winning his flight.

Warburton, who placed third in his class last year when he first tried the swim, coped the Saanichton trophy, presented by Reeve Arthur Ash for the best time, the Sadler Trophy and a gift certificate for winning his flight.

Gail Parker took the Harrison Trophy and a gift certificate.

Hiker Brushes Death, Hit by Rolling Rock

Lake Cowichan Man Injured But Averts 400-Foot Fall

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Vancouver Island mountain climber narrowly missed death Sunday when he was struck by a rock while attempting a sheer, 1,500-foot precipice near Great Central Lake.

Roy Broman of Lake Cowichan, member of the Outdoor Club of Victoria, was struck on the hip by the falling boulder.

The force of the blow knocked him into a semi-conscious condition.

The rock came within inches of striking another climber, Lorne Ebell of Victoria, and driving him off a ledge and on to rocks 400 feet below.

The climbing party was searching for a trail up the precipice leading to the top of Della Falls, about 12 miles from the head of Great Central Lake.

3-HOUR TREK

It took club members led by Bill Burroughs of Victoria, over three hours to pack Broman down the precipice to camp, situated near the base of one of the most spectacular falls on Vancouver Island.

Broman recovered sufficiently from his painful hip injury to be able to walk to Central Lake on Monday.

From 22 members of the Outdoor Club, there were about 30 other persons who tried to get to the top of Della Falls over the Labor Day weekend.

TRAIL HIDDEN

The hiking parties were unable to find the trail hidden from view by thick brush and scrub at the foot of the precipice.

Two couples who tried to reach the top by scaling the cliff were forced to spend the night alone on a ledge at a 1,000-foot level.

One of these were Mr. and Mrs. Jon Svendsen, Norwegian immigrants living at Nanaimo.

STAYED NIGHT

They were unable to make the descent before dark and spent the night in the rain on a narrow ledge. They got down safely in the morning.

The trail, which was finally found by some members of the outdoor club, proved to be badly in need of repairs and markings. It rises steeply and in some places almost perpendicular. There are cables to help the climber, but some of these are rusty.

Once on top, the climber is treated to one of the most spectacular alpine areas on Vancouver Island. There are meadows of alpine flowers, glacial lakes and an easy ascent to the snow-clad peak of Big Interior Mountain.

Ted Fairhurst, a member of the outdoor club, said famous trails, like the one to Mount Arrowsmith, are being obliterated by logging operations.

"The more agile type of tourist is becoming more numerous every year," he said. "It is time that some consideration should be given to trail marking on Vancouver Island and in other parts of British Columbia."

Re-modelling of one of the two cadet blocks at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, is under way and is expected to be completed by the first of the year.

The $159,344 contract is in the hands of Farmer Construction Ltd., and calls for changing the block, built during the Second World War, from living to classroom accommodation.

At present classrooms in the castle are over-crowded. A second cadet block, built after the war, is now used as living quarters.

IT'S BACK TO CLASSROOMS

New School Delayed But Classes Anyway

Last-minute delays in construction of a new wing at Margaret Jenkins School will postpone its opening at least a week—but all pupils will take classes anyway.

Youngsters slated for accommodation in the new wing will double up with other students in the old school and emergency classrooms in the auditorium are expected to be placed again in August.

Embroidered Felt Skirt Already Cut Out to Sew

By PENNY SAVER

Here's something new for a girl who likes sewing but hasn't had too much practice! Felt skirts already cut out only need to be seamed up and have a waistband and zipper attached—they don't need hemming.

The skirts are gaily appliqued with colored felt, sequins and tiny beads in several splashy designs—there's a calypso design, a cowboy one, an old-fashioned bicycling scene and others.

In bright colors, the skirts come complete with full directions for $9.95.

ADD COLOR

Colorful fabrics that would give a dreary-looking bedroom a new lease on life are sprinkled with tiny gold motifs that won't wash off. The fabric itself requires no ironing.

It comes quilted or plain, to use in combination for smart bedspreads, dressing-table covers and curtains, or for very warm and practical dressing gowns.

Colors include red, blue, beige, green, pink, turquoise and others. The quilted material is $2.29 a yard, the plain is $1.19.

Printed corduroy makes gay fall skirts or weekies, and it comes in a variety of dark print designs. Price is $1.95 for 38-inch width.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Business Women Need More Exercise in Lives

The average woman in business leads a much more sedentary life than the woman in the home. She is less active physically and gets outdoors less. Of course there are some exceptions to this but the average office worker spends most of her time in overheated, close air in the winter, fall and early spring.

The woman in the home gets more exercise while attending to her household duties and caring for her children. She also goes outdoors more when she takes the children for their airings and goes to the market.

You cannot separate a beauty routine from a health routine because one must do the same things to achieve either. The woman in business should make every effort to work as much exercise and outdoors activity into her daily life as possible, and this can be done with a little effort.

She also should lose the feeling of being a "rat race" by learning to work and live within a relaxed mood. Once she gets to the office she may not be able to control this, but before and after hours she can.

While sleep is one of the most important items on the health and beauty routine, it is a mistake to get an extra half-hour in the morning if it means that you skip breakfast or eat an inadequate one and rush to work. Just 10 minutes of special exercise in the morning and a leisurely breakfast will send you off to meet the world in much better shape.

If you live close enough to your work you would profit tremendously if you would walk to and from your office. If you do not live that close, get off the bus or subway or park your car a mile from work. In this way you would fall heir to a brisk two-mile walk each day. You may not feel like doing it but the benefits would be terrific.

I sincerely believe that if my business women readers would take to heart the suggestions contained in today's column and the ones I have given them about nutrition, that much of their fatigue would disappear along with any complexion and figure problems they may have.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Menus for Career Girls," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 46 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

If you live close enough to your work you would profit tremendously if you would walk to and from your office.

Reception at Yacht Club Follows Evening Wedding

A reception at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club followed the wedding Friday evening of Katherine Agnes Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Riddle, 28 Obad Avenue, and Joseph Louis Picha, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Picha, Armstrong, B.C. Large bouquets of dahlias and snapdragons were mohair bears, the famed name of Jacqueline and comes in shades of teal blue, green, royal blue and red and brown. Price is $4.95.

Another popular new fabric has tiny shadow checks, and comes in mauve, green, blue, tan and wine. It's $4.95 a yard, 54 inches wide, too.

Tweeds seem to be coming in richer colors this fall, getting away from the old "pepper and salt" types. One in rich brown tones is $6.95 a yard.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in stiff white satin damask featuring a pleated band forming an empire waistline, high neckline, long sleeves and bell-shaped skirt. A tiny crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion net, and she carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book mounted with white roses and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Clement Patterson was matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Joan Harding, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of rich peacock blue taffeta with large matching hats, and white gloves and bouquets. Heroic Skipper, Crew Bring Listing Ship Home

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — Captain Henry Helin, 50-year-old skipper of the Canadian

Fishing Co. packer Cape Perry, said Sunday he has crossed Hecate Strait 1,500 times but "never got into such a predicament before."

The captain, four crew members, and five passengers, were aboard the Cape Perry for 10 hours Saturday while it listed dangerously during a 50-mile-an-hour gale that broke open the pen boards in the hold, shifting the 100,000-pound cargo of salmon.

Still on board the packer when it arrived here, towed by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association vessel Challenger, were crew members Carl Olafson, 25, Del Siegner, 38, Bruce Stanwood, 20, and Al Hemmors, 20. They had refused an offer to be taken off before the long tow home.

The passengers, Mrs. Moses Ross and her four children, who were returning to Prince Rupert for fall school term, had been taken aboard the Nelson Brothers Fisheries packer Alford Bay.

"The crew volunteered to stay aboard," said Captain Helin. "I gave them their chance to get off but they chose to remain aboard."

Said Siegner: "Both Captain Helin and the mate, Carl Olafson, did a terrific job. They kept cool and battled it right to the end."

He added that "when we got down and prayed that we would be saved that showed the seriousness of the situation."

The Challenger, skippered by Ole Olsen, was helped by the Blue Ocean, which had on board two of Captain Helin's sons, Lawrence, skipper of the Hillside, and Arthur, of the Island Point.

"This trip was the closest I came to shaking hands with Davey Jones," Captain Helin told his wife and daughters. "I've seen bigger winds and bigger seas but never got into such a predicament before."

Swept Back on Deck by Wave

Bruce Stanwood was one of the luckiest aboard the Cape Perry. He was swept overboard at the height of the gale but a second giant breaker swept him back onto the deck where he maintained a foothold.

Captain Helin said the Cape Perry left Skidegate, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, 100 miles southwest of here, Friday night.

About 2:30 a.m. Saturday, winds of 50 miles an hour struck the ship. Soon the ship began to take on water and the captain sent out a distress call. Part of the deck cargo was dumped to try to keep the packer balanced.

A lifeboat with supplies was prepared but the gale and waves would have made it impossible to launch. Captain Helin kept changing course to keep the hatches above water and eventually got the cargo shifted and the vessel upright.

Crew members manned the hand pumps, as the mechanical pumps had been disabled.

"They never panicked and worked like blazes all the time to keep the Cape Perry afloat," said the skipper.

Meanwhile, two RCAF search and rescue planes and U.S. Coast Guard plane from Ketchikan, Alaska took off and 12 boats slipped their moorings to join the search.

"We had so much water in the 'c's' at 5 o'clock that we had to stop the engines and we anchored in 12 fathoms to ride it out," said Captain Helin.

First to reach the Cape Perry was the U.S. freighter Clifford J. Rogers, which formed a breakwater for the Alford Bay.

The passengers were transferred by 3:30 p.m.

Next came the Alexander MacKenzie, department of transport light tender which earlier rescued private pilot William Tocher after he landed his plane in Eddy Pass due to bad weather. A gust of wind flipped the plane over and he perched on the float for two hours.

"JUST UP FROM
TWENTY-EIGHT
FIFTY..."

"Yes, that's where Bob and I have been working since about seven this morning—the 2,850-foot level in the famous Sullivan mine at Kimberley."

"Both of us are old timers with Cominco; only today I was telling Bob 'just 36 years ago yesterday I landed in Montreal from Liverpool'."

"Believe me, there were more butterflies in my stomach than dollars in my pocket! Anyway, I headed out for the West and ended up here in Kimberley. I'd done a bit of mining in England, so they gave me a job underground. That was in 1922. I've been here ever since—and you know, I don't regret it one little bit."

"I got married in 1925. I didn't have too much in the bank then, but with a Company loan, we were able to build a house. That really keeps you on your toes . . . buying a house and raising a family at the same time. But that's water under the bridge now."

"Kids? Sure . . . pretty nearly all grown up now. John, the oldest, he's a doctor. Pete's in accounting over at the Sullivan Concentrator, and Mike—he's the youngest, eighteen—has just started with Cominco. Doris, our daughter, is teaching school now . . . so my wife and I figure we've given them all a pretty good start in life. Now that the youngsters are out on their own, we can get around a bit more . . . travel a little, maybe."

"Say, that reminds me . . . I've got a week end's fishing lined up. Better not keep the boys waiting . . . glad to meet you!"

B.C. Boy Killed by Tunnel Cave-In

VANCOUVER (CP)—Doctors massaged the heart of Gavin Johnstone for an hour Sunday night but failed to save the eight-year-old's life after a sand tunnel he had been digging caved in and buried him.

Rescuers did not reach the boy until half an hour after the collapse of the tunnel where he had been playing with Randy Hamilton and David Gray. The other two were partially buried but struggled free and ran for help.

Gavin was found by North Vancouver fireman Don Danner, who dug in a different spot from where neighbors had already moved yards of earth.

The accident happened beside Mosquito Creek, near Queen Road in North Vancouver. The dead boy's father, A. L. N. Johnstone, warned other parents to keep their children away from the area in which slides often occur.

After an inhalator crew worked over Gavin for half an hour, he was taken to North Vancouver General Hospital.

LONDON (AP)—There's a new man in the Princess Margaret sweepstakes tonight. He is Royal Air Force Squadron Leader Christopher Blount, 32, and a bachelor.

Blount is on duty right in the royal household as equerry to Queen Elizabeth II, a job similar to the one held by Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

As equerry, Squadron Leader

Blount is with the royal family

on summer vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Friends of the princess say he has been Margaret's most frequent companion since she went up to celebrate her 27th birthday last week.

Russ Ready To Continue Arms Talks

LONDON (AP) — Russia served notice today she is ready to go on discussing "basic questions of disarmament" in the five-power United Nations conference here, a British source reported.

But despite prodding by delegates of the Western powers, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin made no new comments on the Western package plan for a limited East-West disarmament treaty.

The Western powers on the sub-committee decided today to continue the negotiations as long as there is a chance the Russians might show serious intent to help end the arms race.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower indicated today the United States has exhausted its planned steps for trying to get an early disarmament agreement with Russia.

The next move is up to the Soviet Union. Eisenhower said at a press conference.

Wooden Bed for Prince Seems Nightmare to Manufacturers

LONDON (Reuters) — Word that Prince Charles will be sleeping in a springless, wooden bed when he goes to boarding school next term caused British bedding manufacturers to fume today.

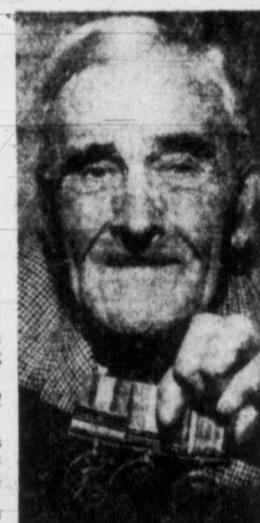

"When I read of it, my reaction was 'How uncomfortable,'" a spokesman for the Bedding Information Centre said today.

"You should undoubtedly have a firm support at that age, but to go to the extent of boards is a bit spartan and not the bedding industry's idea for comfort."

TRAFFIC VICTIM — G. SEARS

WIRE BRIEFS

Two Subs Sighted

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (UPI) — The commander of the Royal Canadian Navy forces in Newfoundland, J. J. Bovey, left for the south short today to investigate the sighting of two unidentified submarines Monday night.

"Enforcement and publicity by the press and radio played a big part," said RCMP Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison, "and this time the public really got into the safety spirit."

Commissioner Harvison, who was out himself on Island highways Sunday and Monday, said all the officers he spoke to remained on the co-operation marked by motorists.

Off-duty RCMP constables volunteered to man additional patrol cars over the weekend.

Appreciation of their work was expressed by George Lindsay, provincial superintendent of motor-vehicles.

Before the holiday weekend, Mr. Lindsay predicted that five

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — Seven Negro students filed quickly past a police car and entered Clinton High School without incident today. The seven marched into the building to begin the school's second year of integration of the races.

Hundreds of cars jammed both ferries between Nanaimo and Vancouver, and others headed for Sooke and the west coast road, picnic spots, fishing streams, and grouse country.

Attendants parking cars at the Saanich fair in Saanichton Monday were convinced everyone in Greater Victoria was trying to get in to the grounds.

83 in Canada Die Violently

By The Canadian Press

Eight persons met death in British Columbia during the last holiday weekend of the summer while across Canada the accidental death toll totalled 83, four more than last year.

Three of the B.C. victims died in traffic accidents, almost matching the toll of five forecast by traffic safety authorities.

An eight-year-old boy was buried alive in a North Vancouver cave-in, two men were run over by trains and two men were drowned.

Dead in B.C. are:

An unidentified man hit by a car at a Vancouver intersection Monday night.

EISENHOWER ORDERS PROBE OF SCHOOL RACE ISSUE

Troops Keep Negroes Away

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) —

More than 250 national guardsmen and state troopers, equipped with half-tracks, rifles, clubs and pistols, surrounded Central High School to day to keep Negroes from registering for the fall term.

None of the 15 or 16 Negro students who want to attend the school showed up for classes.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, defying a federal court against doing anything to prevent gradual integration, called out the guard and troops Monday night to prevent violence he feared "forceful integration" would bring.

In Washington, President Eisenhower told a news conference that Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., is investigating Faubus' use of troops. He said Brownell would set his course of action after a conference with the federal judge who ordered the integration.

The board of education issued a statement, asking Negroes

not to try to enroll in either Central or the other Little Rock white high school until "this dilemma is legally resolved."

Faubus appeared on television Monday night to explain what he had done. An hour before he appeared, 70 members of the guard, heavily armed, surrounded the building.

All streets leading to the school were blocked off by half-tracks and patrol cars. State police took up positions at other street intersections on the perimeter of the school.

"If the traffic fatality reports before this Labor Day weekend are final, it is evident the motorists of this province have responded to the pre-holiday warnings by press and radio and have indeed proven that we can and will respect the rights and privileges of others," he said.

None of the three pedestrians reported killed over the weekend were in RCMP territory.

"I believe that the men who gave up their weekend to make provincial highways safer for everybody have accomplished their job," said Superintendent J. R. W. Bordeleau of the RCMP.

INQUEST

Inquest into the Victoria traffic death of Mr. Sears will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at McCall's Funeral Home.

A veteran of the South African War and the First World War, Mr. Sears retired to Victoria in 1937. He was born in Maidstone, Kent, England, and came to Canada in 1912.

Mr. Sears was a life member of the Canadian Legion Pro Patria branch.

Surviving are the widow, Ellen, Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Gladys Williams, Victoria, and Mrs. Marjorie Lewis, Vancouver; five sons, Stanley and Ronald, both of Victoria, Norman of Vancouver, Gordon of Halifax and Herbert of Saskatoon; 25 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren, and three sisters and one brother in England.

Rev. Douglas Kendall will officiate at a funeral service in McCall's Friday at 1:30 p.m. Cremation will follow.

TRAFFIC

Fifty-two of the across Canada toll were traffic victims, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday showed.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference had predicted 60 would die in traffic. Last year 48 were killed.

Quebec led the country with 32 deaths, 20 of them traffic victims and 12 drownings.

Ontario had 21 fatalities, 14 in crashes, four in drownings and three in miscellaneous accidents.

Four of Saskatchewan's 10 deaths were in traffic and four were drownings. Alberta had five traffic fatalities, Manitoba one.

New Brunswick reported two highway deaths, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland each had a miscellaneous death and a traffic fatality. Prince Edward Island reported none.

'Save Arms Talks' Mac to Bulganin

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan urged Premier Nikolai Bulganin Monday to break the East-West deadlock over disarmament.

"You have but to say the word and real progress is assured," Macmillan said in a letter to the Russian premier.

Macmillan, who has corresponded sporadically with Bulganin since last year, appealed over the head of Valerian Zorin, Soviet representative on the UN disarmament subcommittee.

"We were not encouraged by the tone and substance of Mr. Zorin's intervention in the disarmament subcommittee on Aug. 27," Macmillan said.

Zorin contended that disarmament proposals made jointly by Britain, the United States, Canada and France contained nothing of genuine value.

The Western plan was a broad one calling for reduction of conventional armaments as well as curtailment of nuclear weapons production. It proposed a two-year suspension of nuclear tests and tight inspection of the territory of the atomic powers.

IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTION

Macmillan wrote Bulganin that these proposals were "an important contribution, both practical and imaginative, toward agreement between us."

"I earnestly trust that they will have your favorable consideration," he said.

Macmillan's letter, fourth in the exchange of correspondence, was published as the disarmament subcommittee prepared to meet later today. It has been recessed since Thursday. The talks have been going on since March 18.

Other points made by Macmillan in a 1,200-word letter released by Downing Street:

1. He rejected a proposal in Bulganin's most recent letter, on July 20, that the United States and all European nations pledge themselves not to assist any aggressor who violates the peace of Europe. Macmillan said members of NATO already have given such a pledge, unilaterally and unilaterally.

2. He welcomed a Bulganin statement that Russia's only aim in the Middle East is to promote peace. But he said recent Soviet actions, "especially the recent actions," have appeared in a different light. This referred to the recent left-

Churchill Lauds Free Parliaments For Fine Progress

GENEVA (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill said today free parliamentary institutions have triumphantly overcome the heaviest assault ever made upon them.

The former British prime minister sent a message to the Inter-parliamentary Union, which will open a conference in London Sept. 12. It was released by Geneva headquarters.

"I rejoice that at this meeting the Inter-parliamentary Union is stronger than ever before, and particularly that it now contains representatives of the parliaments of many nations which have recently achieved independence, as well as newcomers from older assemblies which have decided to join the union," Churchill said.

"Our parliament has survived because it made itself the spokesman not of the government but of the people. In the fiercest clash of debate we have jealously guarded the right of every member freely to speak for his constituents and for himself."

Youth Killed In Rope Plunge

FRANKLIN, W. Va. (AP)—A 22-year-old West Virginia youth lost his grip on a rope and plunged 100 feet to his death Monday in Hell Hole Cave. It took rescuers five hours to bring out the body of Robert Wesley Keppler of Keyser, W. Va., who had been exploring the cave.

These questions involved Russia's own stand on German reunification.

Macmillan also renewed a request for Russia to stop jamming BBC broadcasts to Iron Curtain countries.

Drive First---Test Later

LONDON—From this week on, Canadian visitors are allowed to drive a car in this country without the necessity of taking out a British driving permit.

This concession does away with the previous ruling that tourists had to get a temporary visitor's licence. Provided you have a valid Canadian licence, you're legally okay on the roads here.

But if your Canadian licence runs out during your stay, that's when things get complicated—and inconsistent. It is necessary then to take out a visitor's licence. These cost five shillings, no test is required and they are good for a year.

Fair enough. But supposing you stay on here beyond the expiry date of your visitor's licence, can you renew it? Oh, no. You must start all over again and apply for a permanent British licence. This requires taking a test.

This struck me as rather strange. In other words, a Canadian can drive around trying to cope with the switch from driving on the right to driving on the left and knock down lamp-posts and/or people for a year or more—and then he must take a test to see whether he is capable of driving on British roads.

One would have thought that either of two other alternatives would have been much more consistent. If a Canadian is allowed to drive on his Canadian licence until it expires, why can't he renew it at Canada House after expiry, as with passports?

Or if authorities here are eventually going to insist that a test be taken, why not make a Canadian pass a test as soon as he wants to use a car here?

After lengthy discussions with the London County Council (who issue the licences) and the Ministry of Transport (who make the regulations) I found that being battered around like a hockey puck from department to department didn't get me any logical explanation of this inconsistency.

Nearest I could come to it was a statement from the Transport Ministry: "Visitors and people domiciled in this country are licensed differently."

That is, in theory, true enough. But it doesn't take into account the many people who come over as visitors and remain to be domiciled here—businessmen on prolonged visits, people who come here to try their luck in newspapers, the theatre and so on, employees transferred to English branches, etc.

No one I talked to could point to any logic in the ruling that a person can legally drive in England without a test for a year and then is forced to take a test. As a Transport Ministry spokesman said: "It's just one of those inconsistencies of the law."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

The other day, as I saw a man with an empty right sleeve, the thought came to me, when a man loses an arm, how much he must quickly learn about taking care of himself: tying his tie and his shoe laces—even putting on his coat. On reaching my office, I found a copy of Mr. Aaron L. Danzig's "Handbook for One-Handers—A Practical Guide for Those Who Have Lost the Functional Use of an Arm or Hand" (Federation of the Handicapped, 211 West 14th St., New York 11, N.Y.) and there I found the answers to the questions that had come into my mind. There I read how a one-handed man can button and unbutton his clothes, put on a glove, shave, cut his fingernails, put on a wrist watch, read a newspaper, open a can or a jar, cut meat at the table, butter his bread, make a bed, play golf, get on a horse, drive a car, shake hands, and shuffle a deck of cards!

NEATNESS IN MODERATION

While on the subject of interesting books, I will mention one I checked over recently—"The Family Book of Child Care," by Niles Newton (Harper's). The chapter that amused me was headed, "Neat and Clean in Moderation." I thought of all the many fussy and precise women I've known who made themselves unhappy and ill and full of headaches and nerves because they were always trying to change a normally rowdy and dirty boy into a prim, white-collared and velvet-jacketed Little Lord Fauntleroy. A few hundred times I have told such mothers, "Don't worry about your boy's dislike of bathing and dressing neatly; one of these days, when he is 14 or so he'll discover a girl, and then you'll be fussing because he spends an hour in the

EFFECTS OF ATOM-BOMB FALL-OUT

Last year, in a book (number 461) published by the National Research Council, Drs. J. V. Neel and W. J. Schulz, experts on genetics, summarized the careful studies that have been made of the children, resulting from over 70,000 pregnancies of Japanese women exposed to bomb radiation in Hiroshima and Nagasaki. For years it has been feared by some scientists that this radiation might produce in the ovaries a large number of so-called mutations, which would result in malformed infants; but, actually, no definite excess of defective infants was found. This should go far now to cheer some of the people who at present are so panicky about "fall-outs."

A WOMAN ABOUT TO HAVE A BABY

All women who are about to have a baby could be greatly helped by reading a book with the title, "Getting Ready for Parenthood," by Dr. Mario A. Castaldo (Macmillan Co., N.Y.). It gives all the information that a woman wants during her pregnancy; it tells her what to expect during labor; it tells what clothes to take to the hospital, and it tells something of how to care for the baby after he or she comes. It is clearly written and with nothing to frighten the prospective mother.

A SALT-POOR DIET FOR DIZZINESS

People keep asking about a salt-poor diet for ear noise and dizziness. It can be tried, and I hear that occasionally it does some good. I myself might try this diet if my ears were buzzing, but I would quit it if it did not show signs of helping me. Many people find it very unpleasant to live on an unsalted diet, and wives of these patients tell me that the husband complains bitterly about his tasteless food. As any physician would point out, there are all grades of salt-poor diet, some bearable, some almost unbearable, and some even dangerous to life.

MONTE ROBERTS

One, or possibly two, constituents have been kind enough to notice my absence from this space, and have enquired as to what in the world I have been doing these past two weeks and few days.

Well, what I have been doing is conducting research into a matter of vital importance to the welfare of the human race.

With that complete selflessness known only to those dedicated to pure research, I have devoted countless hours investigating the adaptability of the human body to prolonged sleep.

When I undertook this project, I fully realized there would be obstacles to overcome.

One of the main ones, of course, was to devise a method of eating while sleeping.

A great detriment to prolonged sleeping on the part of the human body is this: somewhere in the dark, distant past, a misguided soul invented the pastime of eating.

Over the years, this pastime has appealed so greatly that it now assumes the proportions of a well-nigh unbreakable habit, much harder to get away from than smoking or interrupting your wife when she is telling a story.

I achieved at least a partial solution to this problem by arranging to dream of lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches.

As I eat lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches (even without lettuce and mayonnaise) this effectively took away my appetite, and enabled me to sleep through meal times.

However, one obstacle I could not overcome was the 24-hour day.

I found it impossible to sleep more than 24 hours a day, this because (under our present system) there are only 24 hours in a day.

I am working on this aspect, but cannot promise positive results at the present moment.

Unfortunately I must deliver a negative report on the adaptability of the human body for prolonged sleeping.

The long hours I spent on research have convinced me of this sad fact:

The human body wasn't meant for prolonged sleeping. For instance, what does one do with one's arms during a prolonged sleeping bout?

If one sleeps on one's left arm, one's left arm becomes tired and one's right arm gets outside the covers and becomes cold.

The reverse is true if one sleeps on one's right arm.

The feet attached to the human body are also all wrong for sleeping, being built at right angles to the legs.

This means that feet dig into the mattress if one sleeps on one's front; and they dig into the blanket if one sleeps on one's back.

And if the feet are kept in an unnatural, straight-out-toe-dancing position, a cramp occurs in one's thighs.

All in all, my research has proven that the human body isn't suited for sleeping more than 18 hours at a stretch, so I must count my efforts a failure.

Although, at that, I didn't begrudge the time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A further call for blood donations went out from Red Cross House today.

A recent record clinic reduced the demand from an emergency status, but stocks are still reported light.

Special clinic will be held for naval personnel Wednesday. Thursday a clinic will be held at Red Cross House between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m., and 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Wilfred L. Hollings, 840 Courtenay, pleaded guilty today to impaired driving Sunday and was fined $250 in city police court.

In addition, his licence will be restricted to driving for business purposes only for one year.

He struck a parked car on North Park Street Sunday at 5:30 p.m., causing $50 damage to the car, police said.

Hockey Star's Son Dies at 3 Months

Three-month-old son of New York Rangers hockey player Andy Hebbenton and Mrs. Hebbenton, 1880 Howroyd, died suddenly in Royal Jubilee today after a brief illness.

Robert James Hebbenton was born in Victoria May 16. He is survived by a brother Clayton, four, and sister Terry, one; and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hebbenton, of Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beveridge, Victoria.

Two Port Alberni men received cuts and bruises Monday at 1:30 a.m. when involved in a traffic accident on Johnson Street.

Albert Gallant and A. Morris were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment and later were discharged.

Gallant had been driving his car south on Douglas when he was in collision with a car being driven east on Johnson by Earl L. Clark, HMCS Naden, city police said. Mr. Clark was not injured.

Fire, building and health authorities today asked city council for an order for repair or demolition of vacant garage and service station at 1721 Cook.

The letter to council described the building as "so dilapidated as to be offensive and dangerous to the community." The inspectors asked a 60-day period be allowed for the project. Owner is S. D. Vanwright.

Fourteen downtown store operators petitioned City Hall today to leave shopping hours as they are now regulated by the Municipal Act.

They also requested the mayor and council "legal action be taken if necessary . . ." to enforce 6 p.m. closing and noon closing Wednesdays.

The group is in opposition to the Victoria Six-Day Shopping Week group which is seeking changes in the act to permit Wednesday afternoon opening in a year-round basis.

This time, Frank Doucet, told city police, the thieves weren't after lumber.

They stole 20 gallons of gas from trucks parked at Domans' Lumber and Transport Ltd., 285 Bay Street, sometime Sunday night.

Branch manager Doucet earlier reported that thieves were repeatedly stealing expensive lumber from the yards at night, catching it in adjacent woods, and picking it up in the morning.

City police are investigating a Sunday night break-in at Evans, Coleman and Johnson Ltd., Wharf Street.

Burglars apparently broke in through a skylight and then were scared off. Nothing was missing from the office.

A meeting of the Victoria Soaring Club will be held at the Victoria Flying Club lecture room, Patricia Bay, at 8 tonight.

The first fall meeting of the Armchair Travellers' Association will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the YWCA. It is open to all senior citizens.

George W. Riggs was sentenced in city police court today to 10 days in jail for fraudulently obtaining lodgings at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government, to the value of $43 in February.

Earlier Riggs pleaded guilty to the charge.

Record 10,000 At 'Best-Ever' Saanichton Fair

Premier Praises Society's Effort

Saanichton fair, oldest and largest of the agricultural fairs held on the southern end of the Island, entered the ranks of Class B fairs on the weekend with the best fair in its 89-year history.

Albert Doney, president of the North and South Saanichton Agricultural Society, fair sponsors estimated the crowd at over 10,000, and said it was the largest ever.

The giant fair, with a $6,000 prize list, was opened officially Monday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who praised the society for its effort, and suggested it would be an important part of centennial celebrations next year.

ONLY ONE

Through good times and bad, through poor times and prosperity, through war and peace, it is the only fair that has held its place for 89 years," he said.

Premier Bennett shared the platform with Defence Minister George Pearkes, VC, and said that provincial and federal governments are working in close co-operation.

"I am sure the agricultural departments will work together to help all those engaged in farming," he said.

Gen. Pearkes said the exhibits showed that farming is even more than essential to our living."

Mr. Doney introduced Mayor Percy Scourah of Victoria, who promised the city's co-operation with the fair; Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanichton, who said the fair is becoming widely known as the best of its kind, and Reeve H. Rupert Brown of Central Saanichton.

REAL PIONEER

A direct stream of water could carry an electrical charge to the person directing a hose, such fires are fought with a fine spray.

City firemen were unable to get close to the fire until after the arrival of the line crew which cleared away the fallen wires. Power was interrupted to a number of Victoria West homes.

Alarm was turned on by occupants in the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Feika, 1003 Russell. They took the injured woman into their home where Irene Feika, 16, trained in first aid, gave emergency treatment.

TOP QUALITY

"This year I think the quality of livestock and other material is the highest it has ever been," he said. "It means that all our efforts toward establishing a Class B fair have been worth while."

One of the few sour notes of the fair was the theft, for the second consecutive year, of a leather wallet displayed by Mrs. D. Godwin in the leather goods display.

The 49 swimmers were broken up into three waves. Only a handful of Labor Day swimmers were on hand for the first flight when Mayor Percy Scourah fired the starting gun but the crowd swelled into the hundreds as the day wore on.

A 12-foot fibre glass boat, "door prize" at Labor Day celebrations sponsored by Beaver Lake Swim Committee, was won by D. R. Beaman, 2226 Bowker, it was announced today.

The only boy in a field of five entered in the 17-19 age group, Monty Vanden, 17, 2150 Haultain, won easily with a time of 59 minutes and 15 seconds.

However, his mark was bettered three times by leaders in the following flights.

Marge Jackson, 13-year-old grade eight student at Esquimalt Junior High, won the 13 and under flight when she crossed from Happy Land beach to Beaver Lake beach in 56 minutes and 30 seconds. She lives at 489 South Joffre.

SECOND BEST

In the final flight, of 14 to 16-year-olds, Gail Parker, 16, came in behind Warburton to establish the second-best time of the day in 52 minutes and 34 seconds. A grade 11 student at Oak Bay High, she lives at 2360 Cranmore. Last year she was the first girl in her flight.

Youngest swimmer to complete the race was 11-year-old Jim Burchill, of Langford, who made a fine effort in one hour 27 minutes and 40 seconds.

It was a great day for the Victoria Y and well-known swimming coach Archie McKinnon. His coaching and membership in the Y was claimed by the leading two or three in each flight.

Warburton, who placed third in his class last year when he first tried the swim, coped the Saanichton trophy, presented by Reeve Arthur Ash for the best time, the Sadler Trophy and a gift certificate for winning his flight.

Vandals ripped three music boxes off the wall and forced a juke box open at Pappy's Grill, 1311 Blanshard, sometime over the holiday weekend, proprietor E. Chasnay told city police today.

Entrance was gained through a rear door.

George W. Riggs was sentenced in city police court today to 10 days in jail for fraudulently obtaining lodgings at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government, to the value of $43 in February.

Earlier Riggs pleaded guilty to the charge.

Hiker Brushes Death, Hit by Rolling Rock

Lake Cowichan Man Injured But Averts 400-Foot Fall

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Vancouver Island mountain climber narrowly missed death Sunday when he was struck by a rock while attempting a sheer, 1,500-foot precipice near Great Central Lake.

Roy Broman of Lake Cowichan, member of the Outdoor Club of Victoria, was struck on the hip by the falling boulder.

The force of the blow knocked him into a semi-conscious condition.

The rock came within inches of striking another climber, Lorne Ebell of Victoria, and driving him off a ledge and on to rocks 400 feet below.

The climbing party was searching for a trail up the precipice leading to the top of Della Falls, about 12 miles from the head of Great Central Lake.

3-HOUR TREK

It took club members led by Bill Burroughs of Victoria, over three hours to pack Broman down the precipice to camp, situated near the base of one of the most spectacular falls on Vancouver Island.

Broman recovered sufficiently from his painful hip injury to be able to walk to Central Lake on Monday.

Apart from 22 members of the Outdoor Club, there were about 30 other persons who tried to get to the top of Della Falls over the Labor Day weekend.

TRAIL HIDDEN

The hiking parties were unable to find the trail hidden from view by thick brush and scrub at the foot of the precipice.

Two couples who tried to reach the top by scaling the cliff were forced to spend the night alone on a ledge at a 1,000-foot level.

One of these were Mr. and Mrs. Jon Svendson, Norwegian immigrants living at Nanaimo.

STAYED NIGHT

They were unable to make the descent before dark and spent the night in the rain on a narrow ledge. They got down safely in the morning.

The trail, which was finally

New School Delayed But Classes Anyway

Last-minute delays in construction of a new wing at Margaret Jenkins School will postpone its opening at least a week—but all pupils will take classes anyway.

Youngsters slated for accommodation in the new wing will double up with other students in the old school and emergency classrooms in the auditorium are expected to be placed again in use.

The project received a setback early in its construction when, due to land faults, it was necessary to sink pilings under the new foundation.

Elsewhere in the district schools were reported ready and waiting for the record 19,000 student attendance which takes place Wednesday.

Greater Victoria's 130 new appointees to the teaching staff will be entertained by school trustees and board officials Friday at 3:45 p.m. at the administration centre.

Only two exchange teachers are taking posts in this area this year: Mrs. Margaret McH. Brown, from Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Rita O. Blake, from Southampton, Eng. Both are being replaced in their own schools by Victoria teachers.

Mrs. Brown will teach at Quadra and Miss Blake at Sir James Douglas.

ASK The TIMES

— "My young boy has asked me who are the gypsies?" Well, who are they?" — J.L.

— The word "gypsy" is a corruption of "Egyptian," as gypsies like to think their ancestral home is in Egypt. Actually, they originated in northwest India and for centuries were one of the nomadic tribes of that region.

About 1000 A.D. they ventured westward. By the 1300s they were established in Europe. Some settled; others were given permits to wander, and became tinkers, wood carvers and minstrels.

Gypsies reached the British Isles in the 1500s. They developed the reputation of being shrewd and tricky, yet their skill in music and animal care was much sought after. Fortune-telling provided much of the basis with which they were regarded suspiciously.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The editor reserves the right to refuse conundrums.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Business Women Need More Exercise in Lives

The average woman in business leads a much more sedentary life than the woman in the home. She is less active physically and gets outdoors less. Of course there are some exceptions to this but the average office worker spends most of her time in overheated, close air in the winter, fall and early spring.

The woman in the home gets more exercise while attending to her household duties and caring for her children. She also goes outdoors more when she takes the children for their airings and goes to the market.

You cannot separate a beauty routine from a health routine because one must do the same things to achieve either. The woman in business should make every effort to work as much exercise and outdoors activity into her daily life as possible, and this can be done with a little effort.

She also should lose the feeling of being a "rat race" by learning to work and live with a relaxed mood. Once she gets to the office she may not be able to control this, but before and after hours she can.

While sleep is one of the most important items on the health and beauty routine, it is a mistake to get an extra half-hour in the mornings if it means that you skip breakfast or eat an inadequate one and rush to work. Just 10 minutes of special exercise in the morning and a leisurely breakfast will send you off to meet the world in much better shape.

If you live close enough to your work you would profit tremendously if you would walk to and from your office. If you do not live that close, get off the bus or subway or park your car a mile from work. In this way you would fall heir to a brisk two-mile walk each day. You may not feel like doing it but the benefits would be terrific.

I sincerely believe that if my business women readers would take to heart the suggestions contained in today's column and the ones I have given them about nutrition, that much of their fatigue would disappear along with any complexion and figure problems they may have.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Menus for Career Girls," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 46 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Reception at Yacht Club Follows Evening Wedding

A reception at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club followed the wedding Friday evening of Katharine Agnes Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Riddle, 28 Obed Avenue, and Joseph Louis Picha, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Picha, Armstrong, B.C. Large bouquets of dahlia and snapdragons were placed at the front of St. Mark's Anglican Church for the ceremony performed by Rev. Canon R. Willis, and pastor sweet peas tied with white ribbon marked the guest pews.

Mrs. L. H. Ashby played traditional organ music and Miss Jacqueline Ormond sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was lovely in her floor-length gown of white brocaded taffeta, which had been made by her mother. The gown was fashioned on princess lines with V neckline, empire waistline and very full skirt. She wore elbow-length gloves, and her nylon tulle veil clouded from a coronet of pearls. Her jewelry was the groom's gift of a pearl necklace. Pale pink rosebuds, stephanotis and ivy formed her cascade bouquet.

FAIR MAIDS

Maid of honor, Miss Sandra Noble, wore a street-length gown of green brocaded taffeta with cowl neckline and short sleeves. Her cascade bouquet was of white heather and pink feathered carnations.

Mrs. George Picha, bridesmaid, and Misses Carole Gardner and Audrey Beaumont, maid of honor, wore identical gowns in blue and carried cascade bouquets of pale yellow gladioli and feathered carnations. All attendants wore short white gloves, and shoes and iridescent tiaras matching their gowns.

Best man was the groom's brother, Paul Picha, and two other brothers, George and John Picha, ushered with the bride's brother, James Riddle.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Should flower girl wear white or pastel?

At my church wedding in September, I intend to wear a long white gown. May I have a flower girl in a short white dress, or is it better that it be of another color? I will have no other attendant. How must my fiance be dressed? Would a blazer and gray trousers do, or must it be a navy or gray suit? My fiance's father will be the best man. Must he be dressed the same as my fiance, or can they wear the standard navy blue or gray suit?

Louise Davis answers:

Your flower girl can wear a white dress if you prefer, but my personal opinion is that she should wear a pastel shade. In September, people are apt to be a little tired of white, which is associated with summer. But if you have a special preference for white, there is no reason why the little girl shouldn't wear it. Don't think that this casts any reflection on the bride's dress, for white is traditional the year 'round. I think that it would be better that your fiance wear a navy blue or gray suit. It is a little more persons would be killed in traffic accidents.

"If the traffic fatality reports before this Labor Day weekend are final, it is evident the motorists of this province have responded to the pre-holiday warnings by press and radio and have indeed proven that we can and will respect the rights and privileges of others," he said.

None of the three pedestrians reported killed over the weekend were in RCMP territory.

"I believe that the men who gave up their weekend to make provincial highways safer for everybody have accomplished their job," said Superintendent J. R. W. Bordeleau of the RCMP.

NEWS BRIEFS

The lady who will be visiting Victoria for a three-day stop-over September 10 will be seen by TV viewers on Channel 4 at 1 p.m. Wednesday on Hollywood's "Queen for a Day" program.

It's part of her reward of being chosen "Queen" of the highly popular daily show. She'll be accompanied by television cameraman who will take pictures of her and Victoria's scenic beauty to be shown on the program at a later date.

An official welcome is being planned by TV Commissioner George Warren.

You can't go ALL-OUT if you feel ALL-IN.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system, causing fatigue, disturbed rest, and "tired-out" heavy-headed feelings often follow. That's the time to take Dadd's Kidney Pills. Dadd's stimulates the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dadd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

Save Arms Talks Mac to Bulganin

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan urged Premier Nikolai Bulganin Monday to break the East-West deadlock over disarmament.

"You have but to say the word and real progress is assured," Macmillan said in a letter to the Russian premier.

Macmillan, who has corresponded sporadically with Bulganin since last year, appealed over the head of Valerian Zorin, Soviet representative on the UN disarmament subcommittee.

"We were not encouraged by the tone and substance of Mr. Zorin's intervention in the disarmament subcommittee on Aug. 27," Macmillan said.

Zorin contended that disarmament proposals made jointly by Britain, the United States, Canada and France contained nothing of genuine value.

The Western plan was a broad one calling for reduction of conventional armaments as well as curtailment of nuclear weapons production. It proposed a two-year suspension of nuclear tests and tight inspection of the territory of the atomic powers.

IMPORTANT CONTRIBUTION

Macmillan wrote Bulganin that these proposals were "an important contribution, both practical and imaginative, toward agreement between us."

"I earnestly trust, that you will have your favorable consideration," he said.

Macmillan's letter, fourth in the exchange of correspondence, was published as the disarmament subcommittee prepared to meet later today. It has been recessed since Thursday. The talks have been going on since March 18.

Other points made by Macmillan in a 1,200-word letter released by 10 Downing Street:

1. He rejected a proposal in Bulganin's most recent letter, on July 20, that the United States and all European nations pledge themselves not to assist any aggressor who violates the peace of Europe. Macmillan said members of NATO already have given such a pledge, "voluntarily and unilaterally."

2. He welcomed a Bulganin statement that Russia's only aim in the Middle East is to promote peace. But he said recent Soviet actions, "especially the recent actions," have appeared in a different light. This referred to the recent left-

Churchill Lauds Free Parliaments For Fine Progress

GENEVA (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill said today free parliamentary institutions have "triumphantly overcome the heaviest assault ever made upon them."

The former British prime minister sent a message to the Inter-parliamentary Union, which will open a conference in London Sept. 12. It was released by Geneva headquarters.

"I rejoice that at this meeting the Inter-parliamentary Union is stronger than ever before, and particularly that it now contains representatives of the parliaments of many nations which have recently achieved independence, as well as newcomers from older assemblies which have decided to join the union," Churchill said.

"Our parliament has survived because it made itself the spokesman not of the government but of the people. In the fiercest clash of debate we have jealously guarded the right of every member freely to speak for his constituents and for himself."

Youth Killed In Rope Plunge

FRANKLIN, W. Va. (AP)—A 22-year-old West Virginia youth lost his grip on a rope and plunged 100 feet to his death Monday in Hell Hole Cave. It took rescuers five hours to bring out the body of Robert Wesley Keplinger of Keyser, W. Va., who had been exploring the cave.

These questions involved Russia's own stand on German re-unification.

Macmillan also renewed a request that Russia stop jamming BBC broadcasts to Iron Curtain countries.

Bosom Boom Bursts As Deflation Hits

LONDON (AP)—A plastic surgeon said Monday the post-war bosom boom is going bust.

Flying defiantly, in the face of such contrary evidence, as Sophia Loren, Jayne Mansfield and Marilyn Monroe, Dr. Patrick Clarkson said the tide has definitely turned to deflation.

He said that in one London clinic specializing in paring down statistics a shade too vital "at least twice as many such

Wooden Bed for Prince Seems Nightmare to Manufacturers

LONDON (Reuters)—Word that Prince Charles will be sleeping in a springless, wooden bed when he goes to boarding school next term caused British bedding manufacturers to fume today.

"When I read of it, my reaction was 'How uncomfortable,'" a spokesman for the Bedding Information Centre said today.

"You should undoubtedly have a firm support at that age, but to go to the extent of boards is a bit spartan and not the bedding industry's idea for comfort."

The beds for the bottom form dormitory at Cheam School, where Charles will be a new boy beginning Sept. 23, are about 200 years old with thin, hard mattresses placed on boards.

However, an official of a company which makes mattresses "by appointment" to royalty, praised the Cheam beds and said the framework of boards gives a firm base for the mattress.

Charles, a great television fan, will be strictly rationed at Cheam. The school has one television set and it is turned on only when the headmasters think there is something worthwhile.

Apart from playing sports—cricket, soccer, rugby, tennis—the boys see a movie on Saturday nights, providing they haven't stacked up any "black" marks against them.

Enough "blacks" could send a boy, and this includes Charles, to the headmasters' study for a "talk" or a canning "in the customary place."

The prince, who had a look at the school last month with his parents and sister, did not seem troubled.

He will be called Charles by the teachers and will sleep in an unheated, uncarpeted dormitory with six or seven other boys about his own age.

"When the Queen saw the bed, she laughed," Beck said, "and told Charles 'you won't
